URI Presents Winter Weekend

This week-end the URI Memorial Union Board of Directors is presenting the first annual Winter Weekend, highlighted by concert appearances of "The Ronettes" and Herbie Mann and his Septet. Ticket sales have exceeded expectations and from all indications both concerts will play to capacity houses.

Tickets for "The Ronettes" concert and the rock & roll dance following can be purchased for $2, and for the concert alone for $1.50. The Herbie Mann program is $2.

A package deal which includes admittance to the Friday night Snowball, a semi-formal dance featuring Ed Drew and his seven piece orchestra, "The Ronettes" and the dance which follows their performance on Saturday evening, the Herbie Mann concert, the Sunday afternoon movie "Gigi", a free string bowling, and one-half hour of free billiards and ping-pong is available for the price of $9.00 per couple. Purchased separately this entire weekend of entertainment would cost $10.50. Tickets may be obtained at the Memorial Union Information Desk.

Also highlighting the week-end will be a snow sculpture competition on Saturday morning with trophies for men's and women's housing units. A scavenger hunt, followed by turtle races on the front steps of the Union are planned. Turtles may be purchased at the Union from a Union Games Committee representative.

The Union Board of Directors which is coordinating the weekend activities is receiving physical and financial assistance from all major campus organizations. They feel that this attempt at presenting a major weekend is outstanding considering this is the first time such an event has been held on the campus. Their goal to present top notch entertainment at a reasonable price has also been achieved.

The candidates for Winter Week-End Queen, who will be crowned at the Snowball on Friday evening, will be selected from the following candidates: Delta Zeta, Isabel Colagiovanni; Sigma Kappa, Paula McDonald; Alpha Delta Pi, Michele Marzilli; Chi Omega, Paula Kanarski; Sigma Delta Tau, Rayna Harriet; Alpha Chi Omega, Sue Lockwood; Alpha Xi Delta, Angela Ribeiro; Kappa Alpha Theta.

Fraternities Scrutinized

Fraternities only mirror society's values, when they ought to shape them, according to Jerome M. Pollack, dean of the college of arts and sciences. Dr. Pollack spoke at a panel discussion on, "The Fraternity System: Asset or Liability" at the Annual URI alumni leaders' conference at Kingston.

Dean Pollack told the alumni gathering that society was wrong to look to these organizations for the development of brotherhood and high ideals in young people. He added, "If fraternities are to be a part of the university, they must be leaders not responders to society."

William O. Jones, professor of speech and theatre, spoke about the fraternity's great potential to improve college and university life. Dean Pollack replied that a system that is almost 200 years old should be able to point to accomplishments now, and not always be praised for potential.

"They tell us on the one hand that they are free to make their own rules; and on the other hand, they tell us what an integral part of the University they are," Dean Pollack continued. In pointing to the organizations' discrimination in choosing pledges, Dean Pollack hit on an example of their "inconsistent" practice.

Carl Klockars, member of the Student Senate, Blue Key, and Phi Sigma Delta Fraternity, told the BEACON Monday night that "Some of Dean Pollack's comments appear to me to be

Freshman Women Begin To Prepare For Rush

Amid smiles, chatter, and general confusion, sorority women will be winning the hearts of the freshman women when formal rush begins on Monday, February 14th.

Freshmen women will be caught up in the fast tempo of rush as they hurry from house to house, only becoming more confused and bewildered as the day wears on.

A Pan Hellenic Convocation will be held tomorrow at 1:00 p.m. for all freshmen women going through rush in order to clarify any questions concerning events during the formal rush period.

Sandra Mooney, president of Pan Hel, said that the importance of attending this convocation can not be emphasized enough because "things will be mixed up due to changes in the rush schedule."

She said that registration forms can be obtained at the Pan Hel office or at the convocation. These forms must be submitted before formal rush begins Monday.

All girls interested in rush must sign up for the open hous-

WRIU executives discuss new policies after assuming office Monday. Seated are Philip Irving, station manager (I), and Herbert Novogrofski, program director. Standing are Jeffrey Feinman, business manager (I), and Gerald LeBow, chief engineer.

Cheating Is Open Issue

A URI student who told friends that he played a major part in stealing exams during the testing period last month has been reported to the vice president for academic affairs. Dean Edward C. McGuire is investigating the cheating incident at the request of Dr. Francis H. Horn, university president.

The young man told his story to a girl he dated during the semester break. The girl, who attends Bryant College in Providence, told the story to a URI coed who, in turn, reported the boy's name to Dean McGuire.

A few professors in the philosophy department were forced to change their exams after it was revealed that they had been stolen. Several copies of exams were evidently taken from trash barrels outside of classroom buildings.

The number of test that were seen by students before the examination period has not been revealed. Because the cheating was reported by a student to Dean McGuire on the second day of the exam period, most professors had time to change their tests. There is a possibility that at least one circulated exam was administered.

WRIU Elects New Officers

WRIU has a new executive board as a result of elections held Jan. 11. Philip Irving, former business manager, became station manager Monday. Mr. Irving, a junior, replaces David Spielvogel who served two terms.

Mr. Irving said that there will be some changes but declined to comment further until the executive committee meets to discuss the new policies.

Herbert Novogrofski was elected program director. Mr. Novo-es that they wish to attend at the Pan Hels office, said Miss Mooney. There is no limit to the number of open houses that a girl may attend.

Open house will be followed by soda parties that will be held on the 17th and 18th of Feb.

At the theme parties to be held on the 21st and 22nd of Feb., sorority women will entertain the girls going through rush in far away places and times. Freshmen women will be able to escape from the routine into brief visits with the unusual and exciting worlds created by the sorority women.

The theme parties will be held on the afternoon of the 21st, a holiday, and on the evening of the 22nd.

Formal parties will be held on the 24th. For many freshmen this will be a sad period for ultimate decisions will have to be made. The exciting period of formal rush will be coming to a close.

All tensions will finally be released when bids go out on the 26th.

Those representing the housing units are as follows: Peck Hall, Betsy Ray; Barlow Hall, Marilyn Harris; Hutchinson Hall, Marti Kotin; Merrow Hall, Vicki McGown; Tucker Hall, Sandra Whitley; Eleanor Roosevelt, Sherry Peck.

According to the chairman of the Union's program council, Harvey Adelberg, if this weekend is a success we can look forward to larger concerts of higher caliber in the spring. The concept of an event such as this has been discussed by campus leaders for many years, said Mr. Adelberg, and now that such a weekend has become a reality the enthusiasm and response by the student body will determine the size and scope of such affairs in the future.

logically unsound and physically indefensible. There is nothing wrong with discrimination, in itself, whether practiced by fraternities in selection of pledges or Dean Pollack in selection of his wife. The grounds of the discussion are the matter to be considered."

In further comment on what Dean Pollack had to say Carl Klockars added, "There is likewise no inconsistency in a fraternities maintaining that they are a private organization free to make their own decisions" and at the same time "an integral part of the university." An example of one institution which maintains this very position is the family, autonomous and an integral part of many other institutions at the same time."

The alumni conference panel discussion at which Dean Pollack spoke was moderated by John F. Quinn, vice president for student affairs.

New Officers

grosski is a junior majoring in political science. He replaces Gordon Dalgieri.

Jeffrey Feinman, a graduate student in marketing, is the stution's business manager. Edward Adler replaces John Balbus as treasurer. Mr. Adler is a junior majoring in accounting.

Reelected to second terms are Gerald LeBow, chief engineer and Robert Crowell, public relations manager. Mr. LeBow is a junior business major from White Plains, N.Y. Mr. Crowell is a sophomore in English and comes from Lincoln.

The board announced the reappointment of Frederick Stacy as news director. He is a sophomore English major from Cranston.

Undergraduate Research Offer

An undergraduate research program was established by the Student Senate on January 10. Senator Carl Klockars said that this program is modeled after a similar program at Miami University of Ohio. He said that this program will allot research grants of up to $75 for any approved research project of a URI undergraduate.

A committee composed of four students and four faculty members to be appointed by President Horn will supervise the granting of funds.

This application must be endorsed by a faculty sponsor, and must be submitted along with a summary and budget of his project to the review committee.

URI Is 75 Years Old

URI alumni will be digging into their pockets to help raise $250,000 for a "Fund for the Future" as part of the university's 75th anniversary which begins in September.

"As the university plans its 75th birthday celebration, it looks back to the reason for its founding—education for all the state's able young people," Dr. F. Don James said. Dr. James, who made the announcement in behalf of the URI Development Council, said, "More significant for a celebration of this importance than speeches and plaques and honorary degrees is helping the university do its job for these students."

"And so we have decided to ask all those persons with an interest in the university—parents, alumni and friends—to join in giving the university an anniversary gift of long-range value for scholarships, for matching loan funds, and for cultural enrichment."

Of the $250,000 fund, $100,000 will be used for scholarships,

$50,000 for scholarship loans, and $100,000 for the development of material facilities at the new Fine Arts Center, the library and other campus buildings.

URI Officer Chosen Chairman-elect of NE Group

James W. Leslie, public relations officer at the URI, has been chosen chairman-elect of the New England District of the American College Public Relations Association. It was announced Jan. 27.

He was elected to the post at the annual district meeting at the association in Montreal, Canada. The association, which includes more than 90 member institutions and 249 individual representatives in the six-state region, is a professional organization for college and university personnel working in public affairs, public relations and fund raising.

Open-Door Board Meetings

A major opponent of the Board of Trustees of State Colleges' closed-door sessions has taken exception to legislation aimed at opening the meetings. The Providence Journal, a long-time critic of the closed-door policy, said that the bill introduced by eight Democratic representatives in the General Assembly to require that all meetings of the Board of Trustees that pertain to finances be open to the public, is discriminatory.

A Journal editorial said, "If the legislature wants to write an open meetings law covering all state agencies at every level and applying also to city and town governments and their agencies, that is the legislature's prerogative."

"But to ignore all the closed doors that are slammed on the public regularly by assorted public bodies and to focus all attention on the board is clearly discriminatory."

The Journal editorial did, however, cite the legislation as being evidence of reaction against the Board's closed-door policy. It urged the Board to adopt an open-door policy to "serve the public and... cut the ground out from under the feet of the eight representatives" who sponsored the bill.

Students Deferred For Now

It'll be the "survival of thee established and class standing criteria readjusted, students taking a full-time course and having a satisfactory standing as determined by the institutions they are attending will be deferred.

Brown President Retires Office

The Selective Service system is moving to tighten up on college student deferments next fall by providing local draft boards with guidelines based on standing and class standing. The guidelines, similar to those employed during the Korean conflict, according to Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, will not be binding on the local boards.

Under the system used from 1961 to 1963, students took qualification tests. Passing scores on the test were 70 for undergraduate students and graduate students in the healing arts, and 80 for all other graduate students.

Students judged by class standing will have to be in the upper half of their class as freshmen, the upper two-thirds as sophomores and the upper three-fourths as juniors. Until the testing program can

Cheaters Jeopardize Future of Graduates

In this age it seems demonstrations are frequent and students are constantly demanding the recognition and the privileges which accompany maturity. Some, however, fail to realize that in order to attain these goals it is necessary to act capably and accept responsibility.

One case of failure to do so came to light during the exam period at URI.

Those students who were involved in stealing and circulating examinations acted in a manner which exemplified not only a supreme lack of personal integrity but also a disregard for their fellow students.

Professors, learning of the cheating episode, revised exams and substituted more difficult ones in the place of those which had been taken.

Thus, many innocent students suffered by being confronted with a more difficult exam.

More far reaching and important, however, is the fact that they jeopardized the reputation of the University and the future of URI graduates.

Students seeking employment after graduation will be dependent upon the academic reputation of this school. If widespread cheating is publicized, employers will doubt the true abilities of job applicants. The grade report will no longer be a reliable indicator of a person's achievements and potential.

Students who steal exams and then compound their error by circulating them are not achieving the goal of raising their marks—for their classmates who have been handed the same information will score equally well. Therefore they are only succeeding in lowering the academic standing of the University.

While the ultimate responsibility should and must lie with the student, professors can take several steps toward guarding against the unfortunate developments of the last exam period. Professors who give the same final year after year, are failing to present students with a fresh challenge and are simply providing them with an exercise of memorizing. Leaving final exams in offices where students have access to them is unnecessarily tempting. A better method of safeguarding these exams until they are administered must be found.

Students are deluding themselves if they think they can indefinitely employ cheating practices. They may escape punishment while at school, but eventually they will be called upon to use the supposedly acquired knowledge, and at that moment of truth, they will not shine. They will be shown up. The cheaters will soon find themselves tossed by employers into the same bins from which they obtained their exam copies.

Fun Spoils Dining Image

Dear Editor,

In my three and one half years as a student of this university I have seen many changes in dining services' policy. All for the better. However, many innovations have been spoiled by the few, ever-present "students" who make a career of their adolescence.

As an example, I refer to the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 19. In their usual spirit of enthusiasm, the ladies of Butterfield Hall endeavored to provide some atmosphere for the Italian dinner they served. A fruit cart was set up and apples, oranges and grapes were available. Grapes are expensive to serve at this time of year. Unfortunately a great many grapes were used as "spit ball" substitutes by some less mature "students" and ended up squashed on the floor. By the time the last few diners left at 7:20 p.m. the entire cafeteria was in shambles. Paper napkins and bibs were strewn on tables, chairs and the floor. The amount of food wasted was deplorable.

Perhaps the guilty students find this amusing. If such is the case, perhaps they are more to be pitied... This cannot be blamed on exam pressures because this occurred on Reading Day, after the dining services had waived dress requirements.

On behalf of the majority of my fellow-diners at Butterfield, I would like to extend my sincerest thanks for the efforts of our dining services in providing desirable dining conditions. Speaking as an individual, I find myself contemptuous of those few who are egotistical enough to believe that the world revolves around them and their petty "fun".

Basketball Coach Praised

Dear Editor:

As one who has followed URI basketball intimately for 25 years, I am pleased to state that the current edition of Rhody basketball is the most interesting to watch since the days of the great Frank Keaney. Having seen almost every home game during this quarter of a century, it is gratifying to witness the ascendance of URI to prominence on the national basketball scene during the tenure of Coach Ernie Calverley. It was too much to expect that the fortunes of the team would improve steadily every one of the eight years that Ernie has been at the helm, but that is exactly what has transpired.

No other sport at URI has achieved national recognition in recent years, and it is time that students, administration, and alumni pause to consider what Coach Calverley has done for the university in a relatively short time. There were many years of severe drought between the eras of Keaney and Calverley. On some nights the players almost outnumbered the fans, but all that is changed, and Keaney Gym is packing them in like never before. The triumphs over Fordham and Wyoming on foreign courts were of the spectacular variety, but other victories have been gained in a workmanlike fashion over some pretty good clubs.

The continual improvement in the schedule over the last few years must be taken into consideration when looking at the won-lost record, so the current record is doubly convincing. We understand that next year's schedule is even tougher, so it isn't fair to expect miracles. However, Ernie Calverley has established a winning pattern, which we can be certain will continue if he is provided with the necessary material. We owe this man a vote of thanks and, more important, a solid vote of confidence.

Mistakes repeat themselves and so we are all once again back at URI. Ignorance is bliss and everyone is extremely blissful. To keep students even more blissful, some kind soul arranged the uncoordinated conglomeration they try to pass as registration.

One would think that after 3 years of having registration the it could finally be done in a more organized manner. This year, there weren't too many lines, just THROGS of people clustered around tables, clutching course cards, meal tickets and the like. There were no lines outside of the Dean's office in order to sign drop-in add cards (very vital since the Dean personally checks each and every card). The last was Rodman to lie, fanatically single and scheme to get a decent course arrangement instead the one picked out by the mighty IBM. Maybe some we'll get rid of the aggravation and bureaucracy involved in course cards and simply be able to go to whatever classes whatever time we wish. Done on, Little Broom-Stick Card.

Some said it was in protest of lousy instructors; others said was in fear of the draft; others maintained that you don't look a gift horse in the mouth. In other words, we're the front-page of that evidence paper as being the butt for corruption and cheating in our penchants for cleaning up Truck-a-Ways. It also has confidence to know that professors take no precautions in making out an exam. As the whole situation got out of hand, no one came out with definite policy either condemning or condemning our average garbage-men, and we've been led to normalize. Whatever happened to the good old fashioned signals and crib sheets?

This, by the way, is Winter Week which will be climaxed by Winter Weekend. You've missed the Battle of the Bands and a forum on marriage; however, if you're quick, there still events in which you can participate. Tonight is Latin as Night (gambling and indoor sports) as well as Union a Go-Go. If the girls go-go girls hired for the occasion are not properly (covered, concealed, etc.) then stand-by will be taken over... after all, it will be a shock to us innocents to a go-go girl in anything but a Granny dress. Tomorrow will be the Two-Bit Flic (in other words) "La Dolce Vita" in Edwards. Friday is the Ball (a dance), the highlight of which will be the crowning of Miss Winter Weekend (the Snowflake Contest). Gym will house the major attractions of the weekend: "Ronettes" on Saturday, Herbie Mann on Sunday, will also be a snowball contest Sunday afternoon. Housing units are now start saving their money, all, it's a week of fun andosity, marred only by the fact that some professors are hold classes.

Faulty Announcement

Dear Editor:

In the Jan. 12 edition of the BEACON, I noticed an announcement stating that Dr. Lawrence Grebstain will be giving a lie detector test. Following the appearance of this notice, our department, including both myself and our secretarial staff, was caused a great deal of inconvenience by students calling and stopping in to find out the time and location of the alleged demonstration. The announcement in the paper was the first indication that I had of any demand.

onstration. I have never given a lie detector test nor do I intend to. I consider it the height of journalistic irresponsibility when announcements dealing with controversial and delicate topics are published without first having been validated.

I would hope that in the future, the BEACON will establish the truth of its news before printing it.

Complex Skating Banned

Students are reminded that the pond adjacent to the Housing Complex is not to be used for ice skating this winter.

In a statement issued by the Office of Student Activities recently, it was pointed out that the pond is within that area designated as contractor's property until the completion of the Housing Complex and is, therefore, not available for skating.

There is, in addition, some question concerning the degree to which the pond will freeze. The chemical content of the water results in a lower freezing point than ordinarily expected.

Students are asked to abide by this rule and to remind those who are not aware of the restriction.

Prof. Fritz Eichenberg, professor of art and director of the Pratt Graphic Art Center in New York City, was appointed professor of art and chairman of the department of art at URI by the Board of Trustees of State Colleges at their monthly meeting last week.

The appointment becomes effective Sept. 1, 1966, it was announced by George W. Kelsey, chairman of the board.

A native of Cologne, Germany, Prof. Eichenberg came to the United States in 1933 and taught at the New School and at Pratt Institute, where he became chairman of the department of graphic arts in 1956.

The Pratt Graphic Art Center is an international workshop for professional printmakers and artists who want to study and explore the graphic media creatively. Prof. Eichenberg will continue as editor-in-chief of "Artist's Proof," a magazine on printmaking sponsored by the center, and as co-chairman of the center, which he will visit once a week.

A graduate of the School of Applied Arts in Cologne, and of the State Academy of Graphic Arts in Leipzig, Germany, Prof. Eichenberg is a member of the Pennell Fund Committee of the Library of Congress, vice president of the American Institute of Graphic Arts and chairman of its educational committee, and has served on the councils of the Society of American Graphic Artists and the National Academy.

He is also a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts, and in 1963 was sent to Russia by the U.S. Information Agency as a specialist with the "Graphic Arts: U.S.A." traveling exhibition.

Prof. Eichenberg has had several one-man shows in New York, and two the past year at Brandeis and Cornell universities.

Prof. Elchenberg is the author of several children's books and the illustrator of many literary classics. Best known are the wood engravings and lithographs he has done for the Limited Editions Club and the Heritage Press, among them his graphic interpretations of such Russian classics as Dostoevsky's "Crime and Punishment," "The Idiot," and "The Brothers Karamazov," and Tolstoy's "War and Peace" and "Resurrection."

Many of the books he has illustrated have been selected for the annual "Fifty Best Books" show of the American Institute of Graphic Arts. Among the awards and prizes he has received in national print exhibitions is the Joseph Pennell Medal.

Hopkins Proposes New Mortgage Bill

A bill to increase the state's mortgage guarantee powers for construction of fraternity and sorority houses at URI was introduced in the General Assembly Feb. 1.

Rep. John W. Hopkins, R-South Kingstown, proposed raising the total of state guaranteed mortgages from $600,000 to $1,200,000.

The bill will not affect the amount individual Greek organizations may borrow state backed loans up to $50,000 are guaranteed for repayment by the state if a default occurs before the loan is repaid. If a house fails to repay its loan, the property reverts to the university and becomes a self-liquidating dormitory project. There has never been such a default, however.

Senior Killed In Air Crash

A URI senior was one of three people killed in a plane collision at Hillsboro airport Jan. 22. Robert A. McFarland, 21, and his instructor, Robert P. Thornton, piloted a plane which collided with one controlled by Ronald D. Swiech, an employee of the Newport Air Park Inc. All three were killed instantly.

Mr. Swiech's plane was inbound from the Newport state airport. The other plane had taken off from Hillsboro minutes earlier and was about to practice landings and takeoffs.

Mr. McFarland began flying lessons last September in a course sponsored by the university in conjunction with Willie Aero Inc. The course would have qualified him as a civilian pilot. He was planning to make a career of military flying.

A member of Sigma Chi fraternity, McFarland was an agricultural business major. He was active in the URI ROTC program, and had expected to be commissioned an Army second lieutenant when he graduated in June. He received a Distinguished Military Student award from his ROTC unit last summer.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. McFarland of Westerly; his wife of less than a year, the former Margaret Pellegrino; a sister, Elizabeth McFarland, and a brother, John McFarland Jr.

16 Appointed To Faculty

Sixteen appointments to the faculty and staff of the University of Rhode Island were announced recently.

Dr. Hiroshi Mitsuhashi, professor of medicinal chemistry and pharmacognosy at Hokkaido University, Japan, will become visiting professor of pharmaceutical chemistry from April 1 to June 15 on a part-time basis. A graduate of the Tokyo University Pharmaceutical Institute, Dr. Mitsuhashi has been instructor in pharmacy at Tokyo University and research associate at the University of Washington.

Dr. Francis X. Russo, assistant professor of education at Clark University, will become assistant professor of education July 1. He is a graduate of Brown University, where he received his M.A. He received his Ph.D. from Boston University. From 1954 to 1964 he was chairman and teacher of social studies in the Providence public schools, and in the 1964-65 academic year was assistant professor at Oakland University, an affiliate of Michigan State University near Detroit.

John W. Donovan, a member of the staff of Volunteers in Service to America in the South Providence project, will become instructor in the cooperative Extension Service on Feb. 14. He is a 1964 graduate of Husson College in Bangor, Maine.

Kimber Wheeck, who has been a special assistant in speech and theater at URI, was appointed instructor in speech and theater for the spring semester. A 1956 URI graduate, he has a master's degree from the University of Antioch in Yellow Springs, Ohio, and in 1964 was an instructor at Green Mountain School, a junior college in Poultney, Vt.

Mrs. Rosemary W. Wilson of Kingston was appointed instructor in home management for the spring semester on a part-time basis. A graduate of Cornell University, Mrs. Wilson has a master of science degree from URI. She has been an urban and county home demonstration agent in Syracuse and Oswego, N.Y.

Eugene R. Wiseman will become assistant to the dean of the summer session Feb. 15 on a part-time basis. A retired Navy commander, Mr. Wiseman has attended Robert College in Istanbul, Turkey, Syracuse University, the General Line School of the Navy and the University of California, and is completing his work for an A.B. in political science at URI.

Mrs. Louise R. Pearson, former instructor at Pennsylvania State University, was named research assistant in oceanography. A 1961 graduate of Bridgewater (Mass.) State College, she has a M.S. from the University of New Hampshire.

Graduate assistants appointed are Charles S. Craig, marketing and advertising; Julius Duru, animal pathology; Philip C. Johnson and Peter E. Madden, history; Rudolph Tremel, management; David C. Soreson, horticulture, and Raymond J. Manocchio, animal science.

International Ball To Be Held Feb. 19

"A Whirl and a Twirl Around the World" will be the theme of the All Nations Club's Seventh Annual International Ball, to be held on Saturday evening, Feb. 19.

The Queen, representing the different sororities or residence halls, will be elected by the people attending the ball. The ceremony for crowning the Queen will be quite different this year — this will be left as a mystery to find out and enjoy at the ball.

The International Ball will be held at the Memorial Union from 8:00 to 12:00. Women students will have a 2:00 a.m. curtain few that evening.

Ed Drew and his orchestra, Eden and the Adnaps, and an Oriental Group will provide the music for the ball. Dress is semi-formal or national costumes.

Data Processing Center at URI To Be Established

URI administrators, who are being crowded out of their offices by filing cabinets and mountains of records, are moving into the classroom to learn how to cope with the information explosion.

Some 40 representatives from 15 departments began a four-week special course Feb. 1 in "Principles of Data Processing" as one of the first steps in a plan to make full use of the potential of computer facilities, it was announced by George E. Sullivan, URI's new director of institutional research.

The University now has a computer laboratory which is primarily for instruction and research, but such administrative departments as the registrar have utilized various data processing techniques for years. The business offices have also streamlined their operations considerably by reliance on electronic accounting and data processing machines which manipulate information on IBM cards.

Dr. Francis H. Horn, URI president, said, "I am convinced of the need to develop a central administrative computer facility to streamline our record-keeping, to keep up with the crush of paper work, and to help in making timely decisions."

Mr. Sullivan envisions an administrative data processing center which could be established as early as this July or at the latest July 1967. The type of hardware to equip this center will depend on the ideas the administrators develop in the classroom, but undoubtedly one of the key items will be a computer.

Mr. Colagiovanni Joins Board of Bar Examiners

Mr. Fred Colagiovanni, a 1934 graduate of URI and a practicing attorney in Providence for many years, was recently elected by the Supreme Court of the State of Rhode Island to the State Board of Bar Examiners. He is the father of Miss Isabel Colagiovanni, a member of the junior class and of Delta Zeta Sorority.

Mr. Colagiovanni attended Harvard Law School and graduated from Boston University Law School. He is a member of the Rhode Island and American Bar Associations and of the American Judicature Society, the Special Advisory Committee on Amendments of the Law of the Rhode Island Bar Association, and of the Administrative Law Section of the American Bar Association.

sociation. He has been admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court and the United States District Court.

Mr. Colagiovanni's undergraduate fraternity at URI is Theta Delta Chi.

Grant Given For Engineering Site

Award of a $372,000 contract for construction of an engineering research building at URI was recommended yesterday by the Board of Trustees of State Colleges, George E. Kelsey, chairman, announced Jan. 27.

The low bidder for the building, Mr. Kelsey said, is the Raymond Construction Co. Inc. of Bristol. He said the structure, for which the contract completion date is Dec. 31 of this year, will be connected to Kelley Hall on the engineering quadrangle.

The total cost of the building project, including architects fees and miscellaneous costs, will be $425,000.

The building, Mr. Kelsey said, will contain special facilities for research in underwater acoustics.

The board of trustees met in closed session yesterday at URI. Mr. Kelsey announced the board's proceedings at a press conference this morning at the URI Extension Building in Providence.

The second and third buildings of the new URI housing complex are expected to be occupied by March 1 by 243 men and 145 women students, now living in other campus residence halls, Mr. Kelsey said.

The opening of the buildings, the chairman said, will eliminate occupancy of double rooms on the campus by three students. He said, however, that it may be necessary by fall to again assign three men students to double rooms until the second stage of the housing project is complete.

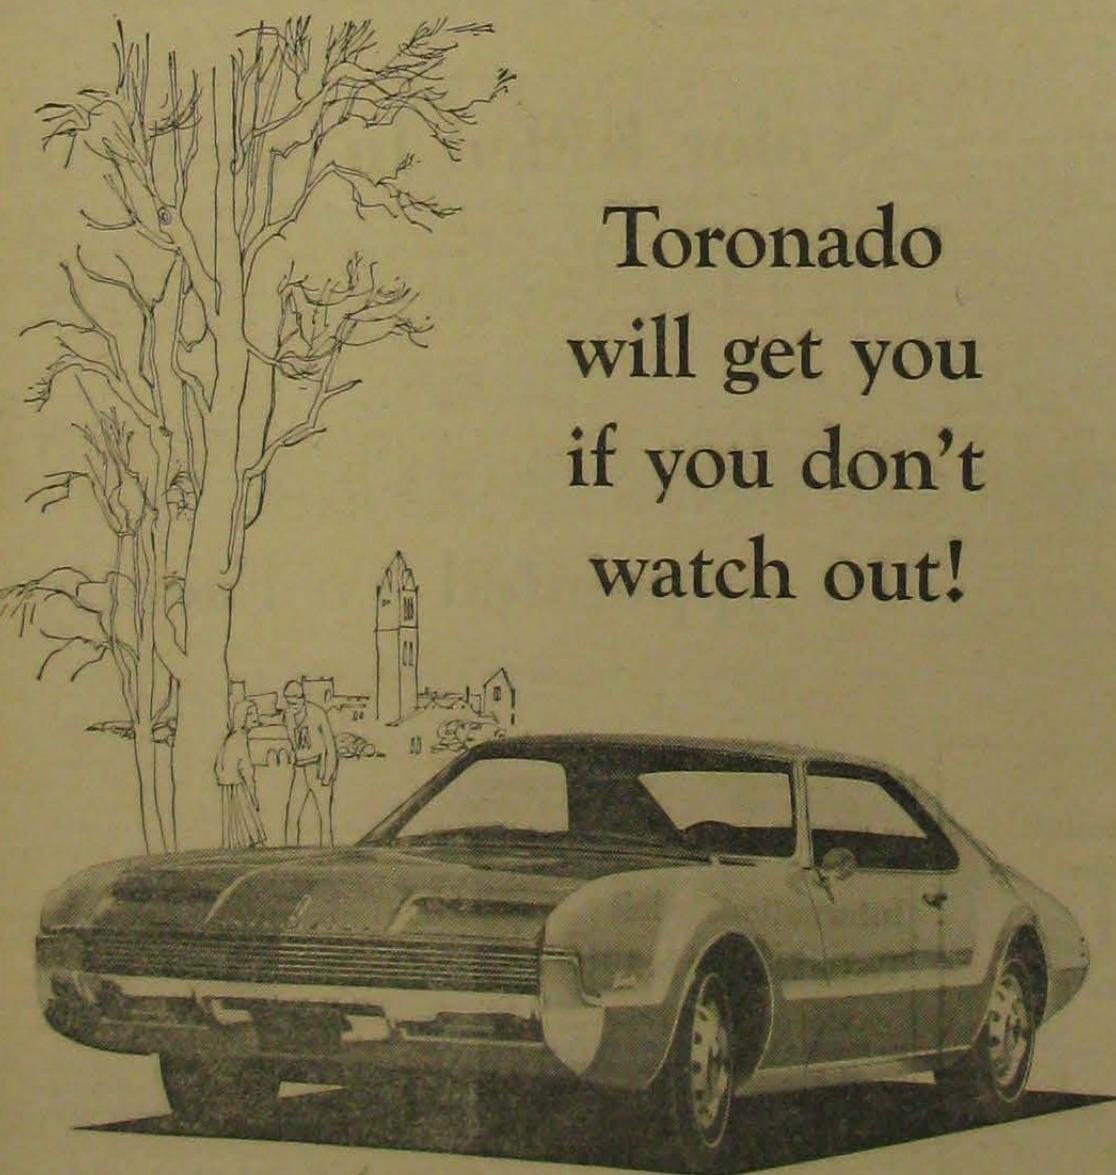

The first building in stage 1 of the project, Coddington Hall, opened last month. The buildings opening March 1 will be named Burnside and Aldrich Halls.

Three buildings in the stage 2 complex will accommodate 450 students. Mr. Kelsey said he did not know when construction on them will be completed.

In other action, the board approved increases in URI faculty salaries, subject to General Assembly approval of its operating budget for 1966-67.

Of a total $301,180, about $131,000 was authorized for normal annual increments according to the faculty salary schedule. The remaining funds, about $160,000, would be used for merit increases.

Announcements

The America's Cup Room will be open Monday through Friday, from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. the remainder of the school year. This facility will no longer be open on Sundays.

Applications for financial aid in the form of scholarships, grants, and national defense student loans are available at the student aid office for the coming year (1966-1967).

The deadline for scholarships and grants is March 31, 1966, and for national defense student loans July 1, 1966. Applications will be considered on the basis of financial need, scholastic achievement, campus citizenship and extracurricular activities.

It is required that you file annually for financial aid.

The graduate student wives will meet February 16, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Canterbury House on Lower College Rd. The program for the evening will be "The Child from Conception to Preschool." Guest speakers will be Dr. William H. McDermott, pediatrician; Dr. Joseph J. O'Neill, obstetrician; and Dr. Philipp Very, associate professor of psychology at URI.

Class ring orders will be taken at the University Bookstore on Thursday, February 17th ONLY from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. This will be the ONLY date for ordering rings for June delivery!

All Students To Evaluate URI Profs

All students enrolled in classes taught by professors who submit to the Laurels evaluation program will be asked to rate their instructors. Laurels President Ann Pacheco released this information to the BEACON in a letter of explanation following an earlier story which said that only selected students would take part in the program. Miss Pacheco said this will be representative of an "academically diversified group" of students.

Fifty professors, randomly selected from the College of Arts and Sciences, will be evaluated over a two-year period. In this way, a more accurate record of an instructor's performance can be obtained by minimizing the effects of personal factors on the rating.

Results of the evaluations during the first year will be returned to the instructor. The second year they will be given to the instructor, the chairman of the department, the dean of the college and the vice president for academic affairs.

The program will be administered for the first time next year. Professors who submit to the evaluation will be asked to assure Laurels that they will remain at URI long enough to make this effort worthwhile.

Dr. R.R. Bauman of the Department of Education is advisor to the group.

"The Ronettes," who have had several million selling records including "Be My Baby," "Do I Love You," and "Walking In The Rain" will appear in concert at Keaney Gym this Saturday at 8 p.m.

Your "kreatamorfess" grows at DuPont

Everything else does.

What's "kreatamorfess"?

It's a name we cooked up for a technical man's ability to come up with new ideas, to grow fast in fast-growing projects.

As a graduating technical man*, you should look into the kind of career Du Pont offers.

We're entering many fields, other than chemistry, that are new to us: instrumentation, metals, heat transfer and building products, to name a few. Your chance to get in on the ground floor has never been better.

You grow with the project to which you're assigned.

You're encouraged to apply your individual approach to problems...to ideas for new products, new applications, new markets.

You're encouraged to assert your "kreatamorfess."

Better Things for Better Living...through Chemistry

To any kid who'd like to leave home: We'll pay half your fare.

The idea's not as crazy as it may seem. Anytime we take a jet up, there are almost always leftover seats.

So it occurred to us that we might be able to fill a few of them, if we gave the young people a break on the fare, and a chance to see the country.

The American Youth Plan*

We call the idea the American Youth Plan, and what it means is this:

American will pay half the jet coach fare for anybody 12 through 21.

It's that simple.

All you have to do is prove your age (a birth certificate or any other legal document will do) and buy a $3 identification card.

We date and stamp the card, and this entitles you to a half-fare ticket at any American Airlines counter.

The only catch is that you might have to wait before you get aboard; the fare is on a standby basis.

"Standby" simply means that the passengers with reservations and the servicemen get on before you do.

Then the plane's yours.

The American Youth Plan is good year-round except for a few days before and after the Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas rushes.

If you can't think of any places you'd like to go offhand, you might see a travel agent for a few suggestions.

We can't add anything else.

Other than it's a marvelous opportunity to just take off.

Complete this coupon—include your $3. (Do not send proof of age—it is not needed until you have your ID validated.)

In addition to your ID card, we'll also send you a free copy of AA's Go Go American with $50 worth of discount coupons.

Rhody Swamps Dukes

by Paul Harpin

Steve Chubin broke Coach Ernie Calverley's four year scoring mark of 1,868 points as he scored 35 points in leading URI to a 101-69 win over the Dukes of Duquesne University three weeks ago at Keaney Gymnasium. Chubin ended the night with 1,882 total points credited to him during his career here at URI.

Chubin needed only 22 points to top Coach Calverley's record. He scored his 1,869 point on the second shot of a one and one foul situation. Steve received a thunderous standing ovation from the highly partisan crowd as the game was stopped to allow Coach Calverley to present the game ball to Chubin as a token of his achievement.

Mention also should be given to sophomore Art Stephenson who played an outstanding game grabbing 14 rebounds and scoring 26 points.

The Rams became the first team ever in history to score 100 points against Duquesne. Rhody shot for 63 percent in the first half and played outstanding ball as they pulled away from the Dukes, leading by as much as 15 points over a stretch in the first stanza. The halftime score was 45-30, in favor of the Rams.

In the second half, Rhody pulled even further ahead. Coach Calverley substituted freely as each member of the Ram squad got a chance to play. Ron Oliver, a sophomore, scored the hundredth point for the Rams. In addition to the scoring efforts of Stephenson and Chubin, Larry Johnson chipped in with 16 points. Bob Boehm had 8 and Jim Cymbala 6.

Pell Internship Program to be Held

The Political Science Department, with the cooperation of Pi Sigma National Science Honor Society, is once again sponsoring a Pell Internship Program.

Under this program, two or possibly three students will be chosen to spend a week in Washington, D.C. at the office of Senator Claiborne Pell. During this week the student will participate in affairs centered around the senator's legislative and administrative work.

Although the Pell Internship Program is sponsored by the Political Science Department, it is open to all students regardless of one's major curriculum or course of study; however, interest and accomplishment in political studies or any of the related fields is one criterion for acceptance.

Application forms for all students wishing to participate in the Pell Internship Program can be picked up at the Political Science Department located in Washburn Hall, where other information concerning details of the program will be available.

Alpha Xi Delta

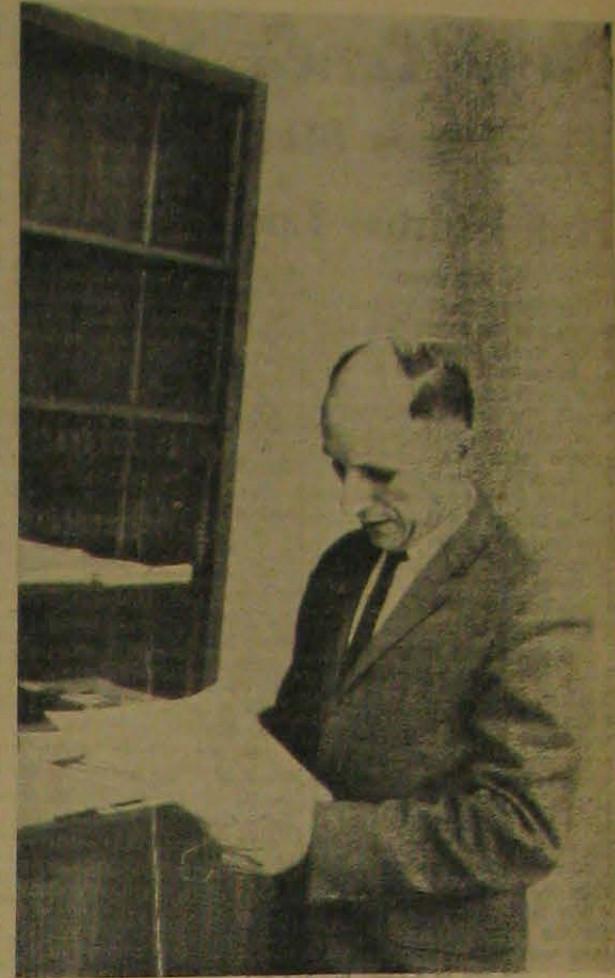

Given Permission To Sell Food

A university ruling barring soliciting to students living in dormitories has been waived to allow Alpha Xi Delta Sorority to sell food on weekends. Last year Delta Zeta's food sale, held every week-night, was discontinued because of the university policy and because its food supplier left school.

Alpha Xi Delta applied for permission to sell food early in the school term and after a two month study, Dean Evelyn B. Morris granted the permission. The Dean of Women said one factor in her decision was the fact that the Alpha Xi Delta sales would be at specific times allowing students wanting food to be in the dorm lobby without disturbing others by buzzing each room. Delta Zeta girls used to buzz the rooms when they arrived.

Alpha Xi Delta's sales are a convenience for those students living in dormitories who do not have transportation to get to a restaurant off campus. The Delta Zeta sales provided competition with the vending machines.

Another factor which influenced the decision to allow the Alpha Xi Delta sales is the source of the food. Alpha Xi Delta buys its food from the URI Dining Services. Delta Zeta obtained its food from an individual student who shared in the profits. Alpha Xi Delta undertook the project to raise funds for the construction of a new house.

Boris Bell, director of the Memorial Union, is busy in his office perfecting plans for Re-Union Week.

New Track Season Opens

Tracksters Start Slow

But Future Looks Bright

by Jeff Wright

The indoor track season has begun and the squad in the last three weeks has competed in seven meets throughout the east. The Rams competed in two dual meets, the first on January 13 was with Boston College, the second meet with Northeastern on the 18th. The mile and two-mile relay teams also competed in the Boston Knights of Columbus Boston Athletic Association, New England Amateur Athletic Union, New York Knights of Columbus, and the Philadelphia Inquirer meets.

The team has been working hard, and sights are set for the Yankee Conference Championships on March 12th at the University of Vermont. Exams and midsemester break hindered practice sessions but Coach Russell is expecting to round the team into excellent shape for an important encounter with the rest of our conference in less than a month.

The first meet of the season for the varsity and the freshmen was with Boston College. The varsity lost in a close meet by the score of 65-48, and the freshies beat the husky puppies by the same score. Scorers for the varsity were led by Larry Girouard who won three events, the long jump, the high hurdles and the low hurdles. Other winners were Don Cook in the two mile, Fred Sculco in the pole vault and Fred Collingwood in the high jump.

The freshmen won eight events in their victory at B.C. Pete Whitfield won both hurdles, Allen Patenaude won the 1000 and the relay, Dick Marion took the 600 and the relay, Francis Rhule the hammer throw, Terry Hogg the long jump, Doug Granger in the pole vault, and Jim "Big Game" Hunter finished in a three way tie for high jump honors.

Two nights later in the Boston K of C, the mile relay team to Bill Reid, Jeff Wright, Gary Pace, and Ken Skelley placed fourth while the two-mile team of Jim Green, Pete Bingham, Bob Troupe, and Don Cook placed seventh. The frosh also placed forth in the mile relay.

Against Northeastern the team made a good showing against the perennial New England power in losing 71-41; the frosh also fell, 67-46. Those posting victories in their events for the Rams were Dave Klein, shot put; Larry Girouard in the long jump and high hurdles; Al Allen, pole vault. The mile relay of Reid, Skelly, Pace, and Jim Scanlon also won. Allen Patenaude won in the 1000; Terry Hogg the broad jump and dash, Fran Rhule the hammer, Doug Granger, pole-vault; and Pete Whitfield in the hurdles were winners for the freshmen.

The Boston A.A. Meet saw freshman Allen Patenaude place second in the New England half-mile, while the mile relay placed fourth and the two mile relay eighth. Pete Whitfield and Larry Girouard were eliminated in the heats of the hurdles which were eventually won by Olympic hurdler Wille Davenport. In the New England AAU meet Larry Girouard and Fred Sculco both scored seconds in their events, Larry in the broad jump, and Fred in the pole-vault.

Over the semester break the school sent the mile relayers and Sculco to New York and Philadelphia to compete. In New York Garry Pace, Bill Reid, Charles McGinnis, and Ken Skelley came back to take a fifth place. The Rams started last since lead-off man Gary Pace became separated from the baton after a collision. Bad Luck again hit the team the following day in Philadelphia as Pace, Wright, Reid and Skelley finished a distant 5th due to the baton being dropped in a collision near the end of the second leg. At this point the team was in second place.

The team has meets with Connecticut and Bates remaining before the Yankee Conference meet and the I.C.4A's.

CONGRATULATIONS STEVE

BU Falls Before Vacation

Larry Johnson, Henry Carey, a few Terrier passes, turning them into points for Rhode Island. He closed out the night with 15 points on six field goals and three free throws.

The scoring honors for Rhody went to Larry Johnson who pumped in 19 points. Johnson sunk nine field goals and a free throw. Larry is a sophomore and coach Ernie Calverley has been grooming him, possibly for a backcourt job in the future.

The whole team participated in this URI victory as Coach Calverley substituted freely. The team shot 46 per cent in the game and would have easily cleared the century mark if they hadn't missed some easy shots before settling down early in the first half.

The squad's record is now 12 wins and 5 losses. The team has only lost one game on their home court while winning nine and 4.

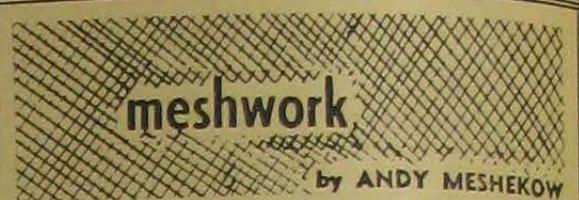

Bob Boehm went right to work after replacing Stephenson. He rebounded well and intercepted

Tryouts For Crew Feb. 8

Ralph Koppelman, coach and promoter of URI's newly organized crew, has announced that spots are available for anyone interested in participating in the demanding sport of competitive rowing. Pre-spring workouts emphasizing endurance and physical conditioning, will begin Tuesday, Feb. 8 at Keaney Gym.

Also open to upperclassmen is the position of coxswain, "skipper" of the 80 foot shell. This post is particularly suited to those in the 100-140 lb. weight range.

Prospective oarsmen and coxswains should meet Coach Koppelman in Team Room A, first floor south at Keaney Gym between 4:00 and 6:00 p.m., beginning Tuesday, Feb. 8.

A belated congratulations is given to Steve Chubin for breaking the scoring record held by Coach Ernie Calverley. Steve is fast approaching the 2,000 point mark which is a height attained by a few basketball players.

UMASS AND VERMONT THIS WEEKEND

Our Rams will take two giant steps in the direction of the NCAA if they can win the Yankee Conference games slated for Friday and Saturday night; the YC champs get an automatic bid to the NCAA. These two games will both be played in enemy territory and this will put added pressure on Rhody.

Friday night's contest places the squad in Amherst, Massachusetts to face the UMass Redmen. This could be a very important battle. Massachusetts will be looking to avenge the 94-67 beating they took at Keaney in December.

In that game the Redman put up little resistance to the Rhode Island squad. However this was very early in the schedule. Their backcourt ace, Clarence Hill, has come on very strong since then, and is now averaging over 20 points a game. Mass lost their last conference game to Connecticut, but they will be battling for revenge and will have the advantage of home team support.

From Amherst, the team travels to Burlington, Vermont to take on the University of Vermont Catamounts. The Vermont five was on the short end of a 97-63 trouncing held in Kingston in January. Vermont will be trying to equal the score.

In the first match the Vermont club found itself outmatched and outsmarted as Rhody played it "cool". With Rhode Island taking a lead right from the start, the Catamounts wouldn't have had a chance without Lane Higgs and Bill Librera. Their fine shooting kept the Rams on their toes. They will have to be contended with again.

When the Rams take the court this Friday night they will have played only one game in the previous four weeks. The effect of a two week layoff was shown by a sloppy first half against Boston University. The Rams did not play model basketball. It wasn't until the first ten minutes had passed, that Rhody got back into their normal form.

If we play this way against Massachusetts, an inspired Redmen team could pull out an upset. It only takes one mistake to change the momentum of a ball game. I'm sure the ball players will be especially careful not to let this lull effect their normally good play.

Rams Still Unbeaten In YC

The University of Rhode Island Rams will attempt to run their Yankee Conference, unbeaten string from five to seven, this weekend with games against the University of Massachusetts and the University of Vermont. Friday night's contest is in Amherst, Massachusetts and on Saturday the Rhode Islanders will move on to Burlington, Vermont.

Huskies Fall

The Rams were able to reach their 5-0 YC record by literally fighting their way to an 82-68 victory over the Huskies of Connecticut. The slight "argument" was proof of how badly both teams wanted to win the big game. It has been the URI-UConn series that has determined the Yankee Conference winner in the past few years while UMass is the perennial "dark horse."

The teams played a slow first half while the Huskies tried to keep down the URI offense, as they have in the past. At intermission the Rams lead by a slim 32-29 score. The Rams came out of the locker room and went right to work.

Lead by the shooting of Steve Chubin and Mike Fitzgerald and the tough rebounding of Art Stephenson, the Rams opened up as much as a 17 point lead in the second half. Stephenson gave up three inches to UConn's 6'7 center, Bill Corley but still managed to put 21 points on the score board.

Chubin lead the scoring with 28 points leaving him less than 100 points below the 2,000 point pedestal. Steph's 21 was best on the score sheet. Henry Carey scored 12 points while leading UConn star, Wes Bialoski, well below his average output. Mike Fitzgerald threw in 10 points, with some fine left-hand jump-shots.
